The American Bankruptcy Law Journal Prize

The American Bankruptcy Law Journal is pleased to recognize students who have earned the highest grade in a bankruptcy class at any ABA-accredited United States law school. This award is known as the “American Bankruptcy Law Journal Prize.” We are honored to award prizes to every qualified student nominated by a law professor. For the course to qualify as a “bankruptcy class,” the primary focus must be on bankruptcy, which would include courses in basic bankruptcy, creditors’ rights or debtor-creditor law, bankruptcy reorganization, consumer bankruptcy, LoPucki’s debtor-creditor player’s game, and bankruptcy seminars. If a professor is not sure whether a course qualifies, he or she should contact the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal. More than one course at a school may qualify. However, a student may only receive the award once. Therefore, if the student has won the award in one bankruptcy course and then obtains the highest grade in another qualifying course, the award for that second course will go to the student with the second highest grade. The award is made upon receipt by the Journal’s Editor-in-Chief of a communication from the professor in charge of a qualifying course that gives the student’s name, mailing address, name of course, and name of the school. In addition to providing the winning students with a certificate of achievement, the Journal periodically publishes the names of the award winners in the Journal.
